

Spike Rumors

NOT TO CLOSE
Refuting rumors which have persisted throughout the city for some time past to the effect that HMCS Nonsuch, Edmonton naval training station, is to be closed shortly, Lt. Cmr. J. A. Dawson, officer commanding Nonsuch, Wednesday, issued a statement released from Ottawa over the signature of Commodore E. R. Brock, RCNVR, commanding officer naval divisions, stating there is no foundation in fact for these rumors.

Commodore Brock's statement follows:

"There is no foundation in fact for the rumor that appears to persist that the Royal Canadian Naval Division, HMCS "Nonsuch", Edmonton is to be closed. This establishment, recently improved and added to, has been designed with a view to postwar naval requirements and

WILL CONTINUE

"It is to be remembered that the City of Edmonton has had an RCNVR Division since 1923 and as far as is known at present, it is the policy to continue all divisions after the cessation of hostilities; in all circumstances it is the intention to provide training facilities for peace-time naval personnel, the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets and the University of Alberta Naval Training Division.

Salvoes of Robots

Strike at England

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(BUP)—Salvoes of flying bombs were launched last night against southern England, including London, when the enemy attempted the largest raid in some time.

A number of robombs were exploded in mid-air or sent into the sea by one of the heaviest barrages of anti-aircraft fire yet set off on the east coast.

At one place a bomb crashed on some houses facing a school, instantly killing a man and woman living in an upper flat.

At least 15 people are known to

Two bodies were recovered at another place when rescuers dug into debris below which a dog could be heard barking. They found the dog slightly injured beside the bodies of his owners.

Councilmen Ask Ban

Brooklynites Are Irked By Noel Coward's Book

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(CP)—Five Brooklyn councilmen, with blood in their eyes, for Noel Coward, demanded yesterday that the author's books and plays be banned in New York City. The butt of countless jokes and cynics, Brooklyn is doubly serious now—the pride soured by the British playwright's jibes at the valor of its fighting men.

The five councilmen introduced a resolution in the city council that his books and plays be banned from city theatres and bookstores.

Councilman Walter C. Hart, Brooklyn Democrat and author of the resolution, quoted Coward as writing in "Middle East Diary," his most recent book:

"MOURNFUL LITTLE BOYS" "I was less impressed by some of the mournful little Brooklyn boys lying there in tears amidst the alien cars with nothing worse than a bullet wound in the leg or a fractured arm."

The resolution was referred to the council's committee on general welfare, over the objections of Hart, who asked immediate action.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(AP)—Chairman Samuel Dickstein of the House of Representatives immigration committee yesterday asked Noel Coward, British author and playwright, "for questioning the fighting qualities of the boys from Brooklyn."

Dickstein, in a speech to the House, accused Coward of trying to sow disunity by saying in his latest book, "Middle East Diary," that the "boys in Brooklyn were not as good (fighters) as the boys in other parts of our country."

"I serve notice upon him now," Dickstein said, "that when he again enters this country as a visitor to take more millions out of this country, I will try to see to it that he stays back in England."

Japan Confident Soviet Will Not Break Neutrality

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—(CP)—Tokyo radio said yesterday "it can safely be assumed" that Soviet Russia will not break her neutrality with Japan in the immediate future "to play a belligerent part in the Pacific war."

The broadcast declared Stalin's characterization of Japan as an "aggressor" could be "more appropriately taken as an angry condemnation of the warring nations of the United States than in the Pacific—a fitting diplomatic courtesy."

Stand of CCF On Conscription To Be Decided

"Every available document should be produced." "This matter is too serious for politicians to play politics with," a statement which drew long applause.

"Politicians in this country see in the (conscription) issue a golden opportunity to wrap themselves in the flag, get into power as the war heroes, and sell Canada down the river for five years," he said.

STAND OF CCF PARTY

He said the CCF has maintained along that if Canada asks the flower of the country to place their bodies on the altar of sacrifice, wealth and industry must be asked to place themselves on the same altar under the same terms.

Asserting his party's attitude to the reinforcement question will be determined by disclosures of the parliamentary sitting, Mr. Goldwell said. "Our boys are over there, and we will see to it that those boys will get all the support they need."

He told of a discussion with high Canadian staff officers during his trip through European battle zones, recalling he had asked in particular about supplies and reinforcements for the troops. Supplies in every respect were excellent, and reinforcements were "satisfactory" were the replies received.

"That was six weeks ago," Mr. Goldwell continued. "Since then there have been very heavy battles and the situation may have changed. What the situation is, I don't know."

SAW LIBERATED AREAS

After attending a Labor-Cooperative conference between representatives of British Dominions in London, Mr. Goldwell and conference delegates were conducted through French and Belgian areas just liberated by Allied drives.

He summed up his impressions of the visit by stating there is a long, hard fight ahead before the Germans are overcome. "The Nazis have withdrawn the flower of their army into Germany, where they will defend their homeland."

The devastation of battle, variety of food available, and clothing supplies in France and Belgium compared favorably with similar conditions in Britain, the CCF leader said.

"If anybody believes that by printing a lot of money he could get property, let him go to France and Belgium," he went on. "The value of the four francs that had cost 1,000 francs. The amount represents $20 at present values."

Mr. Goldwell urged his listeners to become regular blood donors wherever possible. He described seeing blood plasma used in a Canadian army hospital near Calais and said an insufficient supply was going overseas.

"Blood is such a little thing to give, when so many of our boys are giving so much overseas," he said. "Give a little to bring back from the brink of the grave men who are fighting for a cause in which you and I have a great stake."

The CCF leader, who visited the Canadian cemetery at Dieppe, said he noticed many French-Canadian graves there, along with others bearing names of English, Scottish, Ukrainian and even German origin.

"Those boys died together and they lie in death united," Mr. Goldwell said. "Why on earth is it that we cannot live on earth united? It's about time we realized this country is made up of diverse people and they are building a great Canadian nation. They are dying for it together."

"Let's make up our minds that we should live together," Mr. Goldwell said. "Why on earth is it that we cannot live on earth united? It's about time we realized this country is made up of diverse people and they are building a great Canadian nation. They are dying for it together."

"We must return to free enterprise. Free for what? Free for boys to slave, and ride the rods. If we don't do better than that after this war, we will deserve what we get. Free enterprise brought a war and destroyed a generation. It must never return."

"We say we must give our boys a chance. That's why the hosts of reaction are lined up against us," Mr. Goldwell said.

The CCF wants a clear majority in the next House of Commons, he declared, and will have

"For coming in late this morning you'll stay after work and wash dishes!"

no part in a coalition government. "This country will not be sold down the river," The Tories, the Liberals, the Social Credit parties can get together if they will. They are on one side now and the line will remain drawn."

Reporting on the London labor-cooperative conference, Mr. Goldwell said many problems affecting labor were discussed, as well as economic security and the means to remove the real causes of war—poverty, insecurity, and want.

"There can be no peace unless the world is well-clothed, well-fed, and well-housed," he stated. Value of the conference was not in its decisions reached, but in delegates learning to know one another.

MET AS FREE PEOPLE

"Not to establish an imperialism did we meet. We met as free, equal, independent people, ready to unite, not as governments, but as peoples, to solve people's problems."

The CCF leader said one decision reached by conferees was that the great trunk air lines of the world ought not to be the prerogative of one nation, but should be under an international authority on which all nations, great and small, could be represented adequately.

"There is not one country, great or small, that has a greater stake in air transport of the future than has Canada. Edmonton is destined to become one of the greatest airports in the world."

Mr. Goldwell said the conference met under shadow of German robot bombing, and that he had failed to understand how brave a menace the robots were to London.

"Of all the cities I live in Britain, London is the most devastated," he stated.

Backlog of 155,000

Fewer Than 41,000 Apply For War Service Gratuities

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—(CP)—Fewer than 41,000 applications for war service gratuities have been received by the Navy, Army and Air Force here since it was announced a month ago that application forms were available, a survey by The Canadian Press showed today.

Approximately 155,000 in the three services were discharged or killed as casualties prior to Oct. 1, and of the number only 40,700 have applied for the gratuities, provided under legislation passed at the last session of parliament.

Spokesmen for the services said it was the backing of 155,000 who have not yet applied that was causing worry and it was hoped they on their dependents would file applications promptly. Personal discharges after the war were automatically filled out their gratuity application forms before leaving the service.

Minority Still Rules

The calling together of Parliament on November 22 may be the proper thing to do in the face of a military and political crisis which has hurried a responsible and respected minister from office and has provided a term of absolute dictatorship for every Canadian family whose fighting sons overseas appear to be without adequate reinforcement support.

But the coming of Parliament will not lift from the shoulders of Prime Minister King and Defence Minister Mac-Naughton, to the slightest degree, the immediate and urgent responsibility for sending the home defence army overseas as the only available source of trained manpower. The summoning of Parliament does not alter
the present situation of affairs.

The fact is that Mr. King's position in the matter of the draftees is not acceptable to the Canadian people. It was not acceptable to Colonel Ralston about the facts.
How, then, can the colonels and fathers of Canada accept it?

How can they accept an argument that Ralston's word, when it is returned from overseas, the word of the Prime Minister King has not been overseas for six months
the word of General MacNaughton who has not been overseas for a year and who left the Command of the army because he was ill and incompetent?

How can the Canadian people accept the inconsistencies inherent in the statement of General MacNaughton who proposes as a solution of the reinforcement shortage to give additional training to officers and men which will form four on Canadian parade grounds?

The Prime Minister, in his speech of explanation of the other day, did not clearly clear the reason for his determination to keep the draftees in Canada at all costs. He said:

"How great the difficulties would be in substituting conscription for overseas service for the voluntary system, no one knows. But everyone who is honest with himself knows that there would be genuine difficulties
and that they might be very grave."

There, indeed, is the truth. It is that Mr. King's real reason for dismissing Colonel Ralston and for sending the army fighting men desperately needed reinforcements is fear of Quebec.

The Government takes its course, takes dictation from a minority of its members, obey the mandate laid down overhanging by Canadians in the plebiscite of 1942. It is bowing before the outcry and whistle of a minority of its members.

Prime Minister King made a solemn pledge to Canada two and a half years ago
in those words:

"It is not the intention of the Government to resort to conscription
for service overseas until such circumstances should arise which would render the use of compulsion imperative, such, for example, as the imminence of the necessity for reinforcements for Canada's army overseas."

It has been on the basis of this pledge and this commitment that he has retained
the loyal support of Canadians. To France from that other interpretation of the pledge on these words by members of Mr. King's cabinet and by Mr. King himself is more than a shock.

The public is entitled to receive that pledge again without evasion and nothing else will satisfy the Canadian people. The commitment has been made. So far as the Edmonton Bulletin is concerned, the pledge is committed.

V.
Trying to Shock Us?
Herr Himmler and the other Nazi functionaries who filled in for the absent Fuehrer on Beer Cellar Futaba day, the German men of non-military fitness to commit mass suicide rather than accept defeat.

Their appeal was directed to members and prospective recruits of the Volksturm or "people's army," which apparently is based on the idea of a Hitler youth basis. These were admonished to sacrifice their lives in house-to-house and streetto-street fighting. Since things could not be done to this pass, the Hitler youth are destroyed, the proposal is that the male population immolate itself to save the general population from the penalties long overdue.

Perhaps Himmler and the associated accompany expect Germans in the mass to do this. More likely they only hope so.
More likely, their appeal was directed for effect upon the humane-minded people of the Allied democracies. The threat that the whole nation may commit hari-kari may seem to them a very effective method to soften the resolution of the notoriously merciful people in the democratic states.

Whether the appeal was directed to these gentlemen who see justice over-riding them, there is no cause to get alarmed at the spectacle they conjured up. Suberminded Germans will not throw away their lives uselessly as a token of their undying

loyalty to the "hamburger" and his crew—
to Hitler, if that shows individuality still in the land of the living. Creed demented young Nazis may do so, with small loss to the country or the world, but the average German isn't anybody's fool.

Getting On

Another $3,000,000 of the city's debenture debt is to be called for refunding on Feb. 1st next. That will leave a balance of approximately $3,000,000 to be refinanced, and this is expected to be dealt with later in the year.

Of the debentures to be called for February refunding, $1,300,000 are to be paid off, new letters of interest bonds being issued to cover the remainder. Of the bonds re-financed in August last, nearly $5,000,000 were outstanding. By these two operations more than $6,000,000 will have been cut off the city's debenture debt, and the annual bill for carrying charges will be reduced by the interest on the amount repaid.

In addition of course will be the saving effected by having replaced unredeemed bonds by those bearing lower rates of interest.

By both courses the dead weight of the debt on the taxpayers is being lightened.
Advantage is being taken of the present
ample revenue to finally discharge a substantial proportion of the debt; and the remainder is being converted into lower-interest bonds. By the end of the coming year the "problem" should be a thing of the past.

The enemy is expected to be getting the civilians out of Metz and Saarbrücken. German civilians in the border cities are getting first-hand information on a small part of the hardship, loss and inconvenience which German invasion troops thrust upon non-combatants in a dozen over-run countries. Word of aggression may not be so to them to be so desirable after the experience of leaving their homes to destruction and becoming wanderers on the face of the earth.

Urges Examination

Editor, Bulletin: It is imperative, for the future well-being of this nation that we have pre-matterial medical examinations. Such examination, compelled by law, trans-fired up and insured no one.
The simple people of this country
stand up and demand it. Unfortunately our legislators appear very backward about recording his will need.

Sailor Son

Editor, Bulletin: Here is another mother who is just as proud of her son as you are. She is the mother of her air force officer son.

They are both doing their duty
as they see it, but she is the mother of a son who is recognized by those in authority, and what would we do with our son's mother?

ANOTHER SEAMAN'S MOM.

Weather

Editor, Bulletin: In your editorial
comparing Edmonton and Vancouver, I agree we did have a cold
October, but what of the other 11 months? I don't think we are lovely about it. I don't think we are.

Now, about fog. It seems that we have a lot of fog. It is a nuisance at the present time, it is a nuisance
when I came home from work
during the winter.

My definition of this Edmonton climate is this: We have at least six months of winter, and the other spring comes what have for five months. It is a nuisance.

Three Trips

Editor, Bulletin: Several days ago
I received three registered letters from my brother, who is in action in the front. He has made three postal returns in each one, six in all.

When I took these to the post-office
I was told that the post-office could only cash two at a time which means that I will not see them until tomorrow and again the next day to cash the others. Will some kind person explain the sense in this?

This money from overseas is paid to our soldiers from Canadian funds and yet there is all this trouble in having it sent to them. I don't think it is to their bank account. Even while those boys are fighting out there, even send them the money
home, money which is earned
by the boys who are fighting.

Commissionaires Must Pay Cost Living Bonuses

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—(CP)—The National War Labor Board in a decision announced today ruled that the Edmonton division of the Canadian Corps of Commissionaires was compelled under wartime wage legislation to pay a cost-of-living bonus to its employees.

The bonus, which amounts to 95 cents a week, was originally ordered by the Alberta War Labor Board but the association appealed on the ground that it came within the exemption clause provided for religious, charitable and educational institutions.

The National Board found the Corps was organized to provide employment for veterans and commissioned by various employers for services rendered by its members as guards, janitors and other positions. The board ruled the Corps was not exempt from the bonus.

The bonus will be payable from Feb. 1, 1945, the date on which cost-of-living bonuses were merged with basic rates. The National Board suggested that employers might be given on the grounds of industrial harmony.

Capt. A. R. Gilles, assistant commander of the Corps, said that the association here without comment asked the board to consider the Ottawa decision.

Makes Inspection

S. F. Dingle, who was appointed general superintendent of the Canadian National Railway for Alberta, with headquarters here, left Wednesday for an inspection trip over the southern line as far as Calgary.

Asked to comment on the reinforcement trials that resulted in the seasonal call being issued Mrs. Caselman said that "The reinforcement is necessary. Winning the war means not only putting men into the combat line, but supporting them with every means within our power—ammunitions, supplies, food, and that intangible morale."

"When all the facts and arguments are put before us, I shall not be at all surprised to find that the reinforcement is a necessary part of maximum support to the whole war effort."

CHIEF CONCERN
"Naturally the men of the armed forces themselves are my chief concern."

"I want to see as many of them as I can. I want to see them in Canada ready to provide them with every opportunity for useful employment."

"The problem of reinforcement is a complicated one, but I hope Canada will find the right solution."

Humanism will devote time to the housing situation, in which she is intensely interested and varied other matters affecting economic and social welfare of the community.

Farm Machinery In Short Supply
Material shortages still restrict an unlimited production of farm machinery, stated R. W. Gallup, Toronto, deputy administrator of farm and construction machinery for the Prices Board in an address Tuesday to the Northern Alberta Wholesale Implement dealers in Edmonton.

Board policy is to lift restrictions by a year, whenever possible, but lack of manpower and certain materials—sheet steel in particular—and component parts limit production of farm machinery. Dies, chain and bearings can not be obtained from suppliers in quantities of 12 to 15 million pieces.

Shortage of malleable castings, brought about entirely by lack of manpower in the foundries is causing a bottleneck in implement production today, Mr. Gallup said.

As early as 1945, he said, in Europe can't mean an immediate step-up in farm machinery production, because the implement industry will face a period of conversion to war production, when it will take time to produce new tooling and machine tools.

"Needs of Canadian farmers will have first consideration Mr. Gallup pointed out, but certain tonnage of farm equipment is pledged from Canada to liberated countries in Europe and to countries of the Empire."

Power production at the city power plant for the period Jan. 1 to Nov. 12, 1944, totalled 96,535,800 kilowatt-hours compared with 87,267,000 for the same period last year. The increase is due to the fact that, according to a city official Wednesday with the registered power engineer, H. G. Watson, power superintendent.

Greatest Effort To Get Support Of City Member

In the light of information given to the parliamentary session called on Nov. 22, the city member will stand by whatever gives promise of maximum support to the war effort. Mrs. Cora T. Caselman, who is a member of the city council, will leave here on Saturday night for Ottawa to prepare for the session.

Christmas Seal Campaign Starts
Postmen of Northern Alberta are delivering the 1944 Tuberculosis Christmas Seal. These seals are annual stamps that they portray a postman, in honor of the Danish postal clerk, Knud Holbek, who many years ago conceived the idea of seals on Christmas mail.

The Edmonton Kinmen Club, in announcing the start of the campaign, solicits the support of every citizen to help further the campaign against tuberculosis.

Thousands have been made aware of the disease, which is recognized as the most effective method of detecting this dreaded though curable disease. Your purchase of Christmas seals in the past has made possible the most mobile chest X-ray unit now in use throughout the province. A second unit has been purchased and will be put into use in the near future.

The objective is two mobile units and two stationary units so that a complete survey may be made of every citizen in Alberta and the Territories.

The total cost this year is $30,000 for Northern Alberta.

Contributions may be sent to Heintzman Hall headquarters.

City Is Defendant In Damage Action

Damages of $6,117 are claimed from the city of Edmonton in a supreme court action started by the law firm of Harvie and Yanda. The claim is for damages to the property of Fred Sheets, Edmonton watchman, who received alleged permanent injuries as a result of being thrown from a street car at the intersection of 124 street and 118 avenue on May 15 last.

The statement of claim filed Wednesday states that Mr. Sheets suffered two fractures of the left thigh and leg and a fracture of the arm as a result of the fall.

It is claimed that the motorman operating the street car on Friday night was negligent in that he had brought the car to a standstill, brought it again without warning to Mr. Sheets.

Current Year's Road Building Program Ending

Except for graveling in certain areas and completion of bridge building program, the current year's $1,500,000 road program for 1944 has been finished. Hon. W. A. Fallick, minister of public works, announced Wednesday.

The last link in the Edmonton-St. Paul highway between Peace River and Graveling is now under way. This route was started four years ago, with crews working from both ends. This spring, only 30 miles remained incomplete, and the stretch will be declared a highway as soon as graveling is finished.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Wife's Past Disturbs Husband Extensively

Tales of Former Popularity Should Be Taken With A Grain of Salt; Girl Probably Wants to Brag

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a girl in whom I have lost all faith. Before we were married, she was the sweetest person in the world, but since we were married she told me about a number of boys she had gone with, and from her stories I gathered that she was quite popular.

She is very gay and is one of the most wonderful kooky for making friends. Do you think a girl of 22 could have half a dozen love affairs and two engagements and still stay nice and sweet? The girls say that all her affairs were innocent, but I can't help but wonder. We have often spoken of divorce, but her mother is opposed to it, and deep in my heart I think I still love her. Do all girls crave popularity?

DOUBTFUL.

ANSWER: Of course, they do. A girl gauges her success by the number of dates she has, and in her desire to be thought a man-hunter, she often inflates the number of perfectly marvelous men she could have married.

So take your wife's stories about her conquests with a grain of salt. She thinks she makes herself more desirable to you by bragging about how crazy the boys were about her, and that makes you a little jealous in pretending to be in love with some of them. It is common strategy with wives. So just tell her that since you are the first one she loved it doesn't matter how the first one was, and that you are not interested in hearing about the others.

Your wife were more sophisticated, she would know that the thing that a man wants is to be told her husband anything about her former sweethearts. So forget all about the divorce and be. If your wife is pretty and sweet and easy to get along with and you love her, that is all that counts. Marriage should wipe the slate clean for both husband and wife. It should be the beginning really and truly, of a new life, with no past mistakes.

AGE NOT ESSENTIAL.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 28 years old and engaged to a girl who was 24. After she was 24, I found of great happiness I have found that she is 32. I still regard her as very agreeable and wonderful, but am not as certain of our future happiness as I have been up to now. I have found out that she deceived me about her age, and I do not know whether to go on with the marriage or not. What do you think?

EDGALL.

ANSWER: Four years' difference in age should not make you give up the girl who suits you in every other respect. It isn't as if you were a mere boy who didn't know his own mind. You are a mature man whose tastes are not likely to change, and I have no doubt the woman will make you a most satisfactory wife. Perhaps, she will be all the more anxious to please because she will feel that she will have to look out for her best foot foremost to keep young and attractive looking into order to prevent you from wandering off after young girls.

Don't think that you can't trust her because she lied to you about her age. Practically all women do that, and it is not the kind of a lie that makes the Recording Angel doubt even bother to check up against her.

GLASSES.

DEAR MISS DIX: My girl wears glasses when she works, but when she goes out on a date she leaves them at home. She is blinking and stumbling around. Can you tell me how to make her to say to me to make her realize that she is so much more attractive without them?

H. M. W.

ANSWER: Dorothy Parker once wrote a witty little verse in which she said that men don't like women who wear glasses. I am sure that is not true. If your wife is pretty and sweet and easy to get along with and you love her, that is all that counts. Marriage should wipe the slate clean for both husband and wife. It should be the beginning really and truly, of a new life, with no past mistakes.

AGE NOT ESSENTIAL.

Popular Gift Your Baby And Mine

IF YOU HAVE A CHILD 2 TO 4 years old, you need not be told that there is a toy which is just what you need for the winter. It is a toy which is just what you need for the winter. It is a toy which is just what you need for the winter.

These also are the years when complaints that her child cries for everything and anything. If the playthings won't do as they are intended to do, the child gives up and screams in protest. If a privilege is denied, or he is told to play outdoors instead of in or vice versa, or he can't have a cookie right before dinner, must wear a blue instead of the brown coat, the tears flow, no matter how reasonable the reason or the explanation.

The reasons for this behavior are not difficult to find. These are the years when the child is discovering himself as a person, and he is not content with what he is told, what he wants to do, and what he wants to be.

Anybody would welcome the chance to be a homebody in this time of war. It is a time when you are making it possible for you to see.

Western Dakotas

Swept by Blizzard

RAPID CITY, S.D., Nov. 15.—(AP)—A blizzard swept the western Dakotas yesterday.

Winds up to 48 miles an hour piled snow into 20-foot drifts in the Black Hills area of South Dakota, and wind and sleet tangled communications in western North Dakota.

Schools in the Black Hills area were closed and highways not blacked by snowdrifts were made hazardous by glare ice formed when temperature dropped sharply Monday night.

In North Dakota sleet and wind closed off telephone service between Minot and Williston. E. H. Waldo, manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, said damage was the most serious in the state.

More snow and colder weather was forecast for North Dakota Tuesday, with local blizzard conditions in the central and east portions.

Locate "Evaders"

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—(CP)—A check of men reported by their employers as being in doubtful standing in military regulations has resulted in 8,343 men not in good standing being located, Arthur MacNan, director of the War Relocation Service said yesterday.

More snow and colder weather was forecast for North Dakota Tuesday, with local blizzard conditions in the central and east portions.
